From the Scholarship Committee Chair

A scholarship is more than just financial aid, though such aid is vitally needed. A scholarship is a recognition by the entire college community of the accomplishments of the students. They have shown they are willing to strive for their dreams with hard work and determination and a willingness to take up the responsibilities of service and leadership.

Each year the Scholarship Committee is given the task of reviewing student applications and awarding scholarships. It is a demanding task, but a happy one. We must read over 200 applications and carefully review and evaluate every component: personal statements, recommendation letters, transcripts. But as we consider each application, we are learning about our best students, students whose accomplishments go beyond good grade point averages. As we read, stories of hardship, perseverance, dedication, service and ambitious aspirations stream off the pages; we are privileged to meet some very inspiring people.

None of this recognition, nor the financial help that attends it, would be possible without the donors who have set up the scholarships, endowing them not just with their financial support, but with their spirit. As we honor the scholarship recipients for their excellence and virtues, we honor the spirit of the donors.

On behalf of the Scholarship Committee, I congratulate all the scholarship students.
